Robi Marshall

956 Scenic Heights Road Oak Harbor, WA 98277 robi@marshalleducationgroup.com www.marshalleducationgroup.com

Objective

To leverage classical Christian school experience and expertise and thereby provide academy leadership, management and faculty training, thus strengthening and advancing classical Christian education in the world today.

Summary of Qualifications

- Congenial school leader, effective team builder, valuable institutional resource, academy developer,
- Inspirational communicator and public speaker,
- Effective, innovative academic leader, driven to develop the school program, curriculum and community.
- Faculty trainer with a proclivity toward continuous improvement in all aspects of the classroom and academy.

Education

- Graduate level courses, University of Idaho and Harrison Middleton University
- Bachelor of Science, Washington State University

Leadership and Professional Experience

Co-founder, Findafuture, Inc. dba Marshall Education Group, 1997 – (present)

Marshall Education Group is a boutique school management consultancy providing innovative solutions to private, and charter schools and organizations through management consulting, start up services, and interim head of school service. As a consultant, delivering faculty training, wisdom, resources, and curriculum as well as keynote conference speaking. Contributed to the start up of several schools including cofounding and leading Coram Deo Academy to 1100 students in 11 years before transitioning leadership. Other school start up assistance includes academies in Oklahoma, Missouri, and south Texas.

Served as a consultant and principal for Arma Dei Academy, Highlands Ranch, Colorado. Assumed leadership during a time of school difficulty, settling the organization, diagnosing school needs, implementing solutions, aiding in stability and transitioning the academy to a new head of school. Grew enrollment from 35 to 165 during a three year span and now serves on its board of directors.

Co-Founder, Curriculum Director, and Dean of Faculty, Coram Deo Academy, Dallas/Fort Worth, TX, 1999-2010

Designed, founded and grew the Coram Deo Academy from 0 - 1,110 students, while achieving regional accreditation. Established aspirational school vision through monthly public information meetings and school publications. Developed the faculty in classroom pedagogy. Established the observation, feedback and professional development cycle for continuous improvement in instruction. Taught and led the faculty in developing the fully scoped and sequenced PreK-12 classical Christian curriculum plan. Worked to recruit and retain 100 faculty and staff, attracted and retained students and inspired the day-to-day program. Taught English literature, grammar, composition, speech and drama. Responsible for academy special projects, and developing the climate and culture among, students, faculty, parents, and the community. Organized and facilitated an annual multistate conference for classical Christian school educators.

Speaker at Women's Symposiums and Classical Christian Education Conferences, 2003-2010

Conference speaker for women's groups, state private education conferences, and national Society for Classical Learning conference.

Curriculum Writing and Video Production Development for Christian Publishing Companies 1997-1999

Marketing Trainer, School of Tomorrow, Lewisville, TX, 1995-1997

Developed and delivered seminars for all national and international marketing employees, wrote pedagogical articles for monthly newsletters, provided talent for video productions highlighting Christian education.

Pullman Christian School-Teacher, Administrator, Assistant Principal 1976-1995

Served as first teacher, special projects coordinator, and administrator as the school grew and developed. Eventually served as assistant principal providing program development, counseling of both parents and students and oversight of faculty.